Plans for 2017 Gathering in Tampa, Florida
By Sally Tatnall, 1937

OLOC is looking forward to a wonderful National Gathering in Tampa, Florida, August 2–6, 2017, at the Holiday Inn Tampa Westshore. We expect Old Lesbians from the entire Tampa Bay area to attend, along with Old Lesbians from many other places.

We have been looking at the word “intersectionality,” which seems to be another buzzword used by political activists. But what does it mean in real life? How does a person experience it?

We are told that everyone has several identities by which they can be oppressed at any time. Am I being oppressed because I am a woman, or because I am a particular race or ethnicity, or is it because I am old? At this Gathering we want Old Lesbians to talk about our experiences with this phenomenon and how it impacts us on a daily basis. How does ageism interact with racism? And when am I being oppressive?

NEWS FLASH!
Popular Lesbian comedian Mimi Gonzales (mimigonzales.com/) will provide us with a ton of laughs at the August Gathering, and drummer/teacher extraordinaire Ubaka Hill has agreed to deliver our keynote address and to lead a workshop, so bring your percussion instruments and stay tuned for more info.

As Old Lesbian feminists who have looked at the ways oppression works ever since the 1970s, we feel the need to broaden our analysis to look at how ageism compounds all oppressions. As Audre Lorde once said, “there is no hierarchy of oppressions.”

To say more about the Gathering, there will be fun, food, and fantastic Lesbians. Of course there will also be a dance, the Del Martin Award, an auction, and fabulous workshops.

We will have limited financial assistance, so please apply early. The forms are all in this issue.

Intersectionality at OLOC Gathering
By Alix Dobkin, 1940

At our August 2017 National Gathering, OLOC is focusing on what is known as “intersectionality” of ageism with other oppressions. As a prelude, we invite your contribution to the discussion with a brief personal description or observation about this topic for The Reporter.

For example, I’ve thought about the intersection of being old, Jewish, and raised a Communist like me, growing up during the Red scare when homos and Reds were automatically connected and targeted, followed by JFK and the institution of a political youth culture topped off by our (!) refusal to trust anyone over 30—and they all intersect.

OLOC Vision Statement
OLOC will be a cooperative community of Old Lesbian feminist activists from many backgrounds working for justice and the well-being of all Old Lesbians.

OLOC Mission Statement
To eliminate the oppression of ageism and to stand in solidarity against all oppressions.
National OLOC Steering Committee Meets
By Alix Dobkin, 1940

The OLOC Steering Committee met from Thursday through Sunday, October 20–23, at the Holiday Inn Tampa Westshore, the site of our next National Gathering. Everyone liked the hotel, most affordable in the Tampa Bay Area.

We mourned the death of Paij Wadley-Bailey, shared our memories, and honored her unique and powerful contribution to OLOC. We renewed our commitment to having more than two Old Lesbians of color on the SC.

Because this was our first SC meeting since the split with ZAMI NOBLA, we were able to explore our shock and sadness, our deep disappointment, and regrets, as well as feelings of betrayal and anger. We reviewed the process and our part in it.

Some time was spent on the successful June Chapter Coordinators meeting in St. Louis. There are plans for further chapter recognition, as well as chapter calls and Ali’s plan to form a Latina chapter and explore the possibilities of a group in Puerto Rico.

Also on the agenda was financials: the 2017 budget, including the Smith Archive and the $4,000 it will take to process the OLOC collection, and fundraising for financial assistance for the Gathering.

Lacking a Florida chapter, we met on Sunday with seven local Old Lesbians who responded to our call to help with local matters, to find and organize volunteers and other support. They remained undaunted by the amount of work a Gathering demands. Afterwards, we drove to Gulfport (Dykeport) for a jolly dinner, satisfied with what we had accomplished and our better grasp of the work ahead.

Next Steering Committee Meeting
The date of the next National OLOC Steering Committee in-person meeting is April 20–23, 2017, in Tampa, Florida. Often they also meet by conference call between the semiannual in-person meetings. If there are topics you want the Committee to address, contact the Steering Committee by e-mail to info@oloc.org, a note to the PO Box in Ohio, or a phone call to 888-706-7506. Be sure to say if you want a response.
Chapter and Regional News

Northern Colorado Organizing for Change
By Katherine Wood, 1954

In July, Northern Colorado OLOC began preparations for our deeper exploration of the —isms in 2017. Using the Consensus Decision-Making Model taught to Chapter Coordinators in St. Louis by jona olsson of Cultural Bridges to Justice, we arrived at our communication agreements and a conflict resolution model. Members also took a test to determine which of four personality types we are. This has given us more awareness of how we can honor our differences and similarities.

In August, we met at a wilderness area, and, following the Navajo Blessing Way Prayer, we walked in beauty, making each step one of respect for Mother Earth. We brought forward our own beauty and beheld the beauty in everything around us. We did this with the intention of bringing change by bringing beauty.

In September, we had a program on healthy choices by the Alzheimer’s Association. The presenter, Marissa Volpe, shared many ideas on small changes we could make in our everyday lives to be healthier. We organized for change in our personal lives with small changes we would each make. These personal changes included drinking one more glass of water per day, stretching like our cats, parking farther away from the grocery store to get in more walking, learning to speak Spanish to keep our brains engaged, and eating fish three times a week.

In October, we watched Strong Sisters, a video about Colorado women in politics. This was followed by a discussion on what we can do to create change around this election. Also Trish Bangert has been holding discussions on our upcoming ballot issues and getting us involved in registering voters.

In November, we are planning a post-election discussion on where we go from here. And what about that Equal Rights Amendment?

OLOC would love to have more chapters/groups. If you are interested in starting one in your community, please contact ruth@oloc.org if you are west of the Mississippi and bonnie@oloc.org if you are east of the Mississippi.

Hudson Valley, New York, Chapter Report
By Retts Scauzillo, 1953

Our Chapter met on Sept. 22nd for our first meeting since the spring. We generally take the summer off except for our Annual Pool Party in August. Unfortunately, we needed to cancel that party due to weather conditions. So this meeting was important to reestablish our chapter. The meeting took place at the LGBTQ Center of the Hudson Valley in Kingston, New York.

Thirteen Old Lesbians attended. The potluck did not disappoint. It is wonderful to start our meetings each month with a meal and some social time. After our check-in, I gave my report on the Chapter Coordinators meeting in St. Louis. We also discussed the upcoming National Gathering in Tampa, Florida; membership in National; and the future of our local chapter. We settled on dates for the rest of 2016, and planned a holiday party for Dec. 15th at 7pm. DJ Retts will spin. The dance will be open to ALL.

We then showed a film, Letter to Anita, by Ronni Sanlo. It is about the Lesbian and gay history in Florida. I think it would be a perfect film to show at the Gathering but, of course, we would need permission to show it.

Cleveland, Ohio, Chapter
By Sally Tatnall, 1937

Last April, the Chapter put on a panel talking about how we navigate getting OLD when there may be problems. Titled “Old Lesbians Speak Out On Aging,” the panel consisted of a Lesbian living with cancer, a Lesbian who was a former director of the Cleveland Memorial Society, a Lesbian living with dementia, and a Lesbian’s daughter working in Hospice.

About 40 Lesbians attended. It was very well received, and we will do another workshop on actual end-of-life decisions.

The Cleveland Chapter is small but very active in the community. We make a point of showing up at activist events as Old Lesbians Organizing for Change. And even though we are small as a planning group, many other Lesbians join us in what we do.

New Mexico Chapter
By Rosemary Busterna, 1949

I have so enjoyed meeting the women of New Mexico OLOC since moving to Albuquerque two months ago. They are a vibrant group that loves enjoying the special enchantment of the high desert landscape, the open star-filled sky, and the beautiful mountains and volcano remnants that cradle this cherished place for us to find our joy. I know I am blessed in this environment, and the OLOC women I have met have filled my heart with delight. How else can a woman go to a new state knowing no one and within a month come to find a family of dear women simply by joining the OLOC chapter?

This chapter has gone through a series of changes these past few months, shifting to a shared governance model that now distributes tasks and responsibilities to several women in the organization. There is no specified leader, per se, only the commitment among its volunteers to work collaboratively, in mutual respect, to keep us vital and responsive to member needs. We have monthly meetings for chapter business and programs and an exclusive Meet-up site that connects us for meals together, dances, music venues, hikes, and other fun activities that speak to our various interests. This is the foundation I have found that provides the connection to friends who are strong, self-sufficient, well-accomplished women in the later years of life. What a privilege to be here. If you are in town on the third Saturday of the month, come to a meeting. You can reach us at nmoloc@gmail.com.

OLOC Chapters
OLOC chapters and groups as of November 2, 2016, are Arizona (meeting in Central Arizona); Coachella Valley/Palm Springs, California; San Francisco Bay Area, California; Radical Lesbian Crones (also Bay Area), California; Long Beach, California; Northern Colorado; Washington, DC Area; Boston Area, Massachusetts; Northampton/Pioneer Valley, Massachusetts; St. Louis, Missouri; Albuquerque, New Mexico; Hudson Valley, New York; Cleveland, Ohio; Central Ohio; Champlain Region of Vermont and New York; and Puget Sound Area, Washington. Others are forming.

Women’s Land
By Sally Tatnall, 1937

In the heyday of women’s liberation, Lesbians created a culture, a community, and a her-story. We created publishing houses, record companies, bookstores, women’s buildings, and women’s land collectives.

Now, most are gone. Only abortion clinics, battered women’s shelters, and rape crisis centers remain, to clean up after the men.

Once again the men have seemingly won. While all this is gone, women’s land collectives remain, though many are struggling. When the analysis of patriarchy is lost, women forget how important our own stuff is. And we are the only ones to create it.

For anyone interested, the land collectives are looking for women to continue the legacy. Here are a few where OLOC members live or have lived. If you know of Lesbians who want to live on Lesbian land, let them know.

The Common Guy: One Seemingly Benign Phrase Makes a Man Out of All of Us

This is an excerpt from an article written by Audrey Bilger for Bitch Media in 2002. To see the entire article, go here: bitchmedia.org/article/the-common-guy

“What’s the problem?” people ask when I question this usage. The language has evolved, and now ‘guys’ is gender neutral, they say. Even those who consider themselves feminists—who conscientiously choose ‘he or she’ over ‘he,’ use ‘flight attendant,’ ‘chairperson,’ and ‘restaurant server;’ and avoid gender-specific language as much as possible—seem quite willing to accept ‘you guys’ as if it were generic. But let’s do the math: One guy is clearly male; two or more guys are males. How does a word become gender neutral just by being plural? And then how do you explain something like Heyyouguys.com, ‘The Man’s Search Engine’? Can the same culture that says ‘it’s a guy thing’ to refer to anything women just don’t get about male behavior view a woman as one of the guys?”

Two Additions to OLOC’s Media Library

Thanks to a donation from member Jo Oppenheimer, we have Sunset Story, a funny and intimate documentary that will make you think differently about growing old. It tells the story of two women, 81 and 95, who continue their radical activities in Sunset Hall, a “rest” home for radicals. Warm and humorous, with English subtitles, it is 75 minutes long, with 65 more minutes of bonus material.

Inez Milholland ~ Forward into Light tells the story of an American icon who broke convention with her striking conscience, advocating for gender equality, pacifism, racial justice, unions, and free speech in the early 20th century. She became the voice of suffrage. In 1916, Inez crossed the US, giving 50 speeches in 28 days. Pushing through exhaustion and anemia, she fell at the podium and died 30 days later. It is 15 minutes long and closed captioned.

A Tale of Two Organizations: OLOHP and OLOC

By Arden Eversmeyer, 1931, and Margaret Purcell, 1951

It has become more apparent over the past few years that there is lots of confusion about the relationship between OLOC and OLOHP (Old Lesbian Oral Herstory Project), and we’d like to clear that up. Part of the confusion comes from the similarity in acronyms, the overlapping aspects of their work, and the fact that many women are involved in both organizations.

It is important that everyone understand that OLOHP and OLOC are separate. Each is incorporated separately and has its own leadership, board of directors, mission, and goals. And neither is privy to the inner working and finances of the other.

Members of OLOC already know about the work of OLOHP but may not be as familiar with the focus of the Project. The Old Lesbian Oral Herstory Project collects and preserves our life stories to honor the lives of Old Lesbians, focusing on Lesbians 70 and older.

For any nonprofit organization to work diligently toward its goals, money is essential. To find the funds necessary to do this important work, both OLOHP and OLOC rely on people who believe in what these two entities are doing. It is important that donors understand that they are donating either to OLOHP or to OLOC.

OLOHP appreciates the contributions OLOC has made to its efforts. For years, OLOC and its supporters have demonstrated a strong interest in the work of OLOHP and have generously contributed to its success by helping promote OLOHP in the OLOC newsletter, on the OLOC website, and at its Gatherings. OLOC has also provided funding that was significant in helping the Project thrive.

OLOHP and OLOC are two separate organizations, proud of what they are doing themselves and supportive of what the other is accomplishing. Learn more about the Old Lesbian Oral Herstory Project at www.olohp.org.

OLOC maintains a media library and will lend items to members. For a complete list of items available, contact susan@oloc.org or write the PO Box in Ohio.
Ageism
By Sharon Raphael, 1941

OLOC has a mission to support Old Lesbians and educate within and without the organization about ageism. We proudly use the word “old” not as a negative stereotype, but as a natural process and period in time that affects us all if we are lucky enough to live long enough. We choose to confront stereotypes about old age rather than conform to them. We are Old Lesbian Pride Sisters. OLOC believes all the –isms are connected. That helps us see the whole picture and understand that collectively we can change the world and, as individuals with this understanding, we can be strong and proud in old age and at any age. We are feminists. Sexism and ageism are interconnected. Old women experience more poverty than their male counterparts, and young women in their 30s and 40s are seen as “over the hill” because of society’s youth obsession, which hurts all women. Race and class affect how we deal with aging. Life chances are limited by all the –isms. That is why we look inside ourselves and try to grow beyond our –isms

Rain and Thunder Needs Your Support

Rain and Thunder: A Radical Feminist Journal of Discussion and Activism is a grassroots publication created and distributed by a collective of radical feminist women. It provides a space for radical feminist thought, analysis, creativity, activism, and resistance to flourish. A radical feminist perspective is one that is aware that:

- Men, as a class, are waging a war against women.
- Rape, battering, incest, prostitution, pornography, poverty, heterosexuality, and gynocide are some of the main instruments of male supremacy.
- All forms of hierarchy and domination, including misogyny, racism, classism, ableism, ageism, and every other interconnected oppression, must be opposed.
- We must strive to eradicate domination and subordination from our personal lives and sexual practices.

- Organized political resistance is necessary to make change in our local communities and the world.

There are numerous ways in which you can take part:

- Subscribe for yourself and your friends.
- Post and distribute flyers on campuses, at libraries, in cafes, on kiosks, at bookstores, and in other public places.

Memorials

Paij was a member of the OLOC Steering Committee when she died. She was born in Riviera, Florida, and grew up in New England. She lived in Montpelier, Vermont, for most of her life.

Paij earned an M.A. in Social Ecology at Goddard College and an M.Ed. at the University of Vermont. She served on the faculty at both colleges. She developed the Lesbian and Gay Studies Program at Goddard and was the first coordinator of the UVM LGBTQA Service Center.

Paij was Director of the Vermont Anti-Racism Action Team, which maintained a hotline for complaints about racism in the public schools. She was the founder of Vermont Reading to End Racism, an initiative to eliminate racism through personal and literary programs that educate and empower youths. She was also an anti-racism trainer and diversity consultant.

Paij identified as a “bull-dagger.” Her forbears dressed as men to herd cattle (“doggies”) and help “tame” the Wild West. When it was discovered that they were female, the “o” in “doggies” was changed to an “a” to denote they were females.

Paij had four children and four grandchildren. Her life was celebrated in a Memorial Service in Montpelier on August 17, 2016.

Susan McAllister, 1948–2016

By Carol Squires, birth year unknown

Susan was a member of OLOC since 2014. She was a lifelong artist who spent most of her life in the San Francisco area.

She entered a social work program at the University of California, Berkeley, and started an internship there at Creative Growth, a groundbreaking program working with artists with developmental, mental, and physical disabilities. In the 1980s, Susan and her partner, Anne Moore, organized and staffed tables at many San Francisco LGBT Pride Parades.

Susan Levinkind, 1942–2016

Long-time member of National OLOC and the Bay Area chapter, partner of Elana Dykewomon, and briefly on the National Steering Committee, Susan was active in the planning and execution of the 2014 Gathering. More about her in the next issue.

“Susan Levinkind, my partner, spouse, great friend these last 27 years, died tonight, Oct 29, 2016, at home. My heart is cleaved, a flock of wild birds, startled, take wing into the dark... May her great love for lesbians and her kindness remain a soothing presence in all our lives.” Elana Dykewomon

Irene Weiss, 1926–2016

Irene was a member of OLOC since 2007 and attended at least two Gatherings.

She was born in August 1926 in Pennsylvania. After moving to California as an adult, she worked at a variety of nursing positions over the next decade or two. Finding her niche in a nursing home, Irene learned the business side as well as the practice of nursing. She took on accounting, learning budgeting, staffing, reading construction plans, and more.

Her long-time partner, Marilyn Murphy, introduced her to the women’s movement, and they devoted themselves to it. They were an essential part of California’s Califia Community, a radical feminist educational collective known for its week-long retreats. They later lived at the women’s communities Pagoda in Florida and Superstition Mountain Resort in Arizona. Marilyn died in 2004, and Irene found love again with Michelle de Beixedon, with whom she lived at Discovery Bay Resort in Sequim, Washington, another women’s community. Irene is quoted in the book Califia Women by Clark Pomerleau and was interviewed in the movie Lesbiana and also the OLOHP book A Gift of Age: Old Lesbian Life Stories.
