The 2019 OLOC National Gathering
by Alix Dobkin, 1940

The 2019 OLOC National Gathering was the greatest I can remember! And not just because I had such a fine time during my concert, but mostly because of the entire event, not to mention seeing our dear Susan Wiseheart again (yay)!

Bringing new dimensions of color and depth to this normally animated cohort, the Puerto Rican contingent pumped up the animation even further.

And from the balcony outside our room, the sight of happy Old Lesbians enjoying each other and their custom-made breakfasts every morning filled me with joy.

Wednesday afternoon, we registered arriving attendees in the lobby while the Old Lesbians of Color did their work in the ballroom.

Then we saw five minutes of Every Room in the House, a film about Ruthie and Connie Kurtz, 1936–2018, her co-winner.

The workshops provided for a variety of interests and passions and enjoyed good attendance and good receptions.

In the ever-popular, always welcoming Hospitality Room, we were entertained and educated with readings by some of our most accomplished and noteworthy OLOC authors, such as Carole Anne. They also offered the workshops “Playwriting” with Terry Baum, 1946, and “Writing with All Our Senses” with Elana Dykewomon, 1949.

Following my concert on Thursday night, we were lifted from our seats compliments of María Cora (center in photo) and Azúcar con Aché’s irresistible Latin/Salsa musica. A wild mob of Lesbians dancing to brilliant live music from an accomplished ensemble of their peers inspires a Lesbian energy exchange that creates the highest level of vibration possible on this planet at this time.

Friday night, Karen Williams wove the Gathering theme, Resist and Persist, into her pitch-perfect keynote, and on Saturday night, DJ Jamie furnished us with more high-energy music, a great ending to a great Gathering!
Introducing OLOC’s Newest Steering Committee Member!

María Cora was born in 1953 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, grew up in Puerto Rico, and has been living in the San Francisco Bay Area since 1981. She is a Black Puerto Rican vocalist, writer, and feminist social change activist. Her focus has been the empowerment of women and People of Color. She has served in diverse leadership roles at the Lesbian Health and Research Center at the University of California at San Francisco, the Aqua Foundation for Women, and the Office of Women’s Health of the San Francisco Department of Public Health.

She is a founding dyke of Lesbian of Color organizations that include the NIA Collective, Mujerío, and Ellas en Acción. It has been her pleasure to be the lead vocalist of women’s ensembles such as Orquesta Sabrosita, Azúcar y Crema, and Different Touch, and for the past 10 years, Azúcar Con Aché. María currently coordinates 13 older adult choirs at the Community Music Center in San Francisco. As the newest member of the OLOC Steering Committee, she looks forward to bringing attention to the realities of older Lesbians of Color and helping to strengthen OLOC as a crucial national Lesbian organization.

OLOC works for change by supporting:
- comprehensive immigration reform
- elimination of violence against women
- enactment of universal single-payer healthcare for all
- an end to corporate “personhood”
- an end to any curtailment of voting rights
- the Black Lives Matter movement
- the Say Her Name! movement
- the civil rights of all indigenous people

It is with regret that the Steering Committee has accepted the resignation of Jan Griesinger, 1942, our former long-time Co-Director. There will be more about Jan in the December issue.
Every morning I looked down from my second floor room on the dining area to see beautiful women clustered at tables, greeting one another with plates of breakfast in one hand and their arms around each other with the other. I heard laughter billowing up to my ears inviting me to join them. I made so many friends, besides seeing old friends. I love you all. Janis Sommers, 1951

[Editor: The rest of Janis’s report will be in the Sept. E-News.]

Karen Williams gave Friday night’s keynote address.

Hibernation to Old Lesbian Nation

By Mev Miller, 1955

I’ve waited many years to be old enough to attend an OLOC Gathering. When I moved to Rhode Island in 2002, there wasn’t an easy way to become connected to Lesbian community; my Lesbian activism and connection to community went into hibernation.

When I turned 60, I joined OLOC. At 62, I realized I knew enough Old Lesbians in Rhode Island to initiate an OLOC-Rhode Island Chapter. And this year, I finally attended a Gathering. I was concerned that my hunger for Lesbian space and high expectations might be disappointing.

I discovered that what I wanted and needed was all here—and not at all disappointing. From the second I went to the registration table and put on my name tag, I knew I was about to experience exhilaration. I started breathing Lesbian air and became intoxicated. I reconnected with many Lesbians from around the country that I hadn’t seen for nearly 20+ years. I finally met many Lesbians I’d come to know through emails, the Yahoo group, and Chapter Coordinator phone calls. I was introduced to many other Lesbians from around the country. And the radical conversations and political disagreements that involved me in the 1980s and 1990s were evolving: How white Lesbians must work against racism and become allies to Lesbians of Color, Lesbian invisibility and the need for Lesbian-centered spaces, butch-femme controversies, women born women and tensions with transwomen, how to interact with Lesbians with disabilities, open talk about Lesbian sexuality, radical feminist responses to patriarchy and hierarchy, and so much more. I was happy. And I loved every minute of it!

I carry with me a renewed sense of connections to Lesbian community among Old Lesbians who share many similar perspectives. I am out of hibernation and

Thoughts on Lesbian Erasure

By Jan Griesinger, 1942

Female Erasure: What You Need to Know about Gender Politics’ War on Women, the Female Sex and Human Rights, 2016, edited by Ruth Barrett, includes articles by a number of women, including “The Erasure of Lesbians” by OLOC Steering Committee Co-Directors Alix Dobkin, 1940, and Sally Tatnall, 1937. Some good lines from their work are:

“Lesbians took on leadership in creating women’s culture, theory, feminist bookstores, rape crisis centers, battered women’s shelters, abortion clinics, and access for deaf and hard-of-hearing through sign language at entertainment and meetings. Women’s land groups were formed, women challenged male religion, women became lawyers and doctors and ran for office. Many of these women were Lesbians. Unfortunately straight women were being accused of being Lesbian and pressure to eliminate Lesbian involvement was the result. However, Lesbians had been engaged. We had the energy, the theory, the brains, and the passion for women’s liberation like no other. Women’s liberation then became a slur.”

“Lesbians being ignored are [sic] nothing new, and in spite of many complaints by Lesbians to community leaders over many years, we see no improvement or intention to improve. The latest absurdity is the decision at Mount Holyoke College (once an upper-crust college for women) to stop producing The Vagina Monologues (by Eve Ensler) because all women don’t have vaginas.” However, the last chapter has not been written, and we trust that if anyone can reclaim our female core and re-ground our female-based culture, it would be an army of ex-lovers who cannot fail, and that would be us!”

Honoring Native American Residents
By Jan Griesinger, 1942

For years it has been called “Columbus Day” honoring someone made prominent in US history. It would be in the name of justice to re-name it Native American Day. They are the ones who lived on this land. They are the ones who got removed from this land against their will. Why are we honoring the one who arranged for this to happen?

[Editor: Jan says that although there is no easy system for change, what she has done is send a letter to her mayor and her county commission. Please send in your ideas and what your community is doing.]

More on Native Heritage of New Mexico

We received a request from Elizabeth Berrey, 1945, to correct the information on “Native Heritage of New Mexico” in the June Reporter. This is what she would like to replace the last paragraph with:

“Visitors are welcome, but please remember that you are visiting peoples’ neighborhoods and homes. It is important to honor this and be respectful in your visit. Also, make sure to check ahead of your visit, as some communities are only open on certain feast days, while others, which may be open almost every day of the year, may close unexpectedly for religious or other cultural observations.”

Update on Susan’s Injury

OLOC’s Administrator, Susan Wiseheart, 1941, took a fall on March 2 and broke her hip badly. She has had three surgeries and is now resting and recuperating while she awaits her fourth and final surgery. Here is an update in her own words [excerpted]:

“My last hip surgery is scheduled for September 26, much later than I hoped. I am now in wait mode. I am on a regular course of pain pills that mostly keeps it at bay and recently got rid of the uncomfortable rental bed at Denslow’s [Editor: neighbor at whose home Susan is recuperating] and bought an inexpensive recliner, which seems to be better for sleeping most nights. I do my rounds of therapy exercises. I very much appreciate the cards, concern, communications, and donations from so many of you. Thank you.”

If you want to communicate, her address is HC 73 Box 169C, Drury, MO 65638. Get well soon, Susan!

Next Steering Committee Meeting

The next National Steering Committee in-person meeting will be October 24–26, 2019, in Phoenix, Arizona. The Committee also meets regularly by conference call between the semiannual in-person meetings. If there are topics you want the Steering Committee to address, contact them by email at info@oloc.org, a note to OLOC at PO Box 834, Woodstock, NY 12498, or a phone call to 888-706-7506. Be sure to say if you want a response.
Two Views of Radical Feminism by the Sea Conference

By Sally Tatnall, 1937

You may not have heard about this, but it was a wonderful conference in April in Rehoboth Beach, Delaware. Attendees were vetted to prohibit any transgender interruption. I had the privilege of attending.

First we heard from someone raised in the hills of West Virginia and how she survived to become a radical feminist. The young women there heard about the herstory of radical feminism from two other presenters. They loved hearing from the elder Lesbians and showed great respect. The discrediting of elders so popular these days was not present. We learned how to start a consciousness-raising group and how to incorporate as a religion in order to have women-only space.

There was a presentation on doing anti-racism work as an activist. We talked about the pros and cons of working with right-wing organizations and how important it is to have a solid feminist base when doing any of this work.

In a presentation on the very long herstory of women’s spirituality and power, we heard about feminism on campus and how isolated young Lesbians feel among the queer and gay women. A button that said “Lesbian not queer” was popular. I gave a presentation on “Hierarchy/Patriarchy, Toward a Theory of Solidarity,” which I plan on giving at the OLOC Gathering.

I felt so energized. It is a rare time to spend talking about radical feminism for days. I am concerned about the lack of radical feminist theory today. We were so good at it in the 1970s and 1980s. It is a glaring absence. The facilitators plan to do the workshop again next year and I look forward to again being with smart Lesbians who are not afraid to think.

By Rena Grasso, 1944

A sense of urgency and hope brought me to the Radfem gathering By the Sea (Delaware, April 2019). Attacks on women’s hard-won gains are intensifying. Fortunately, signs of a resurgent women’s movement have emerged (#MeToo and others). I was excited to connect with radical feminists to advance this movement.

Instead, I experienced the consequences of decades-long backlash. The conference literally opened with an injunction: no debate about radical feminism was to be tolerated. What followed made me long for discussion: radical feminism without commitment to and vision of political transformation. I left bewildered, wondering what this collective meant by radical feminism.

Organization was both cause and symptom of this political confusion and stasis. Workshops divided the audience in rows before the privileged (the speakers). Time disallowed discussion, and I heard many provocative or disputable statements that required challenge or, minimally, discussion, but it was not to be.

Worse, as I learned by experience, disagreement was not permitted. I did not agree with what one of the presenters had to say, and I pushed back. That’s when I learned the policy. An organizer grabbed the mic, silencing me, informing us that disagreement with presenters was not permitted.

Such authoritarian structure and policy would have been unimaginable in the 1960s and 1970s. Women had awakened to how formats silenced their voices. Feminist process was intentional behavior to resist replication of patriarchal structures of control and suppression, a process inseparable from empowering women and feminist transformation.

I write to call out this regression. Conversation is the medium that generates bonding—the sisterhood that pursues clear thinking and nurtures the courage to undertake the bold actions our time implores of us.

Hudson Valley, New York OLOC
The Summer of Love—Peace and Protest
By Retts Scauzillo, 1953

The summer of 2019 was a busy and active one for the Hudson Valley Chapter. In addition to our pop-up social at the R&R Lounge in Woodstock, which happens once a month and is a place for OLOC members and all women to come and socialize, we were busy producing events and marching in Pride Marches.

Our Chapter marched in our local Hudson Valley Pride March on Sunday, June 2. Fifteen members marched and chanted along with the rest of the community. We are the L in LGBTQ and we are proud to represent Lesbians and Old Lesbians at events in our community. OLOC members also marched in NYC Gay Pride, marking the 50th anniversary of the Stonewall riots in NYC in 1969.

We attended a protest on July 15 at City Hall in Kingston, where we wore our “This is what an Old Lesbian looks like” t-shirts and were counted among the more than 100 other protesters appalled at this country’s treatment of immigrants and refugees trying to enter our country to find a better life.

Our LGBTQ Center hosted an intergenerational event. OLOC members attended and were pleased with it.

Bonnie [Wagner, 1942] and I hosted a Salon night. Amanda Aikman, a Lesbian playwright from Everett, Washington, wrote a play called Risk-Benefit. Amanda is a member of the Puget Sound OLOC chapter. The reading was a lot of fun and Hudson Valley Chapter women attended and gave very intelligent and useful feedback.

Some Hudson Valley members attended the National Women’s Music Festival in Middletown, Wisconsin. What a great event for OLOC members! A large number of dykes there were OLOC age. Bonnie and Ruth (Steering Committee members) did an OLOC workshop, which is always very popular. I stage-manage the Spotlight stage.

Colorado Chapter
By Katherine Wood, 1954

Colorado OLOC had its annual weenie roast in the mountains in June, where sisters gathered in the beauty and shared summer stories at the lovely home of Sue Olmsted, 1943. Several guests joined us. In July, we met at a restaurant for good Italian food and Part Two of a life story program led by Sami Maroney, 1944. (Sami did Part One several years ago.) Again, we had guests at the meeting—three this time. In August, we met at an area senior center for a potluck. We invited Lesbians of all ages to join us for an across-the-generations gathering, our first and hopefully annual. Afterwards, we said goodbye to two long-time members, Sue Wise, 1940–2019, and Marj Rust, 1929–2019, with our special “We will remember her” memorial service.

Right now we are raising money for our LGBT Denver Center’s annual holiday party for teens who participate in Rainbow Alley [Editor: a teen group at the Center]. We have also been helping out our sisters with health challenges and attending area activities together. Plans are underway for our first Colorado OLOC Gathering in Manitou Springs, Colorado, in October. Also, several of our members attended the National Gathering in Columbus, Ohio.

New Mexico Chapter
By Susan Buchler, 1946

These were New Mexico OLOC events for May, June, and July 2019.

May 18, 2019: This was our third program by poet Mary Oishi in which she read from her upcoming memoir, The Little Jap That Lillie Raised, the story of her early life as a Japanese American Lesbian raised by extreme fundamentalist members of the KKK. Mary Oishi has been out since 1982. She is also a published author and is one of twelve US poets whose work was translated into Spanish for a project funded by the Mexico Secretariat of Culture. Her poem was read at International Women’s Day in 2019. Her poetry and prose have been widely published. After her reading, Mary provided a format for each of us to write an autobiographical poem in one of two formats, which some shared and others did not.

June 15, 2019, Playing with Clay: The June program began with a potluck hosted by M. Hari Sheppeard, 1950, and Susan Buchler, 1946, outdoors in their back yard. The program consisted of modeling with clay. Some made New Mexico sun faces, but there was a variety of other kinds of faces and figures as well. Hari supervised how we rolled, cut, stretched, and decorated our creations. She also had located a venue where they could be easily and affordably fired and then painted if desired.

July 20, 2019, Political forum– The July program was an eagerly awaited return of some of the New Mexico women political candidates who spoke to our OLOC group last year before the 2018 election. The large room was filled almost to capacity. As well as our own members, many Lesbians from the community attended. Most notably on the program was Deb Haaland from Laguna Pueblo in New Mexico, the first Native American woman to be elected to Congress, as well as five other elected officials.

OLOC chapters and groups as of September 1, 2019, are Arizona (meeting in greater Phoenix); Coachella Valley/Palm Springs, California; San Francisco Bay Area, California; Radical Lesbian Crones (also Bay Area), California; Long Beach, California; Colorado; Washington, DC; Area; Boston Area, Massachusetts; Northampton/ Pioneer Valley, Massachusetts; New Mexico; Hudson Valley, New York; Cleveland, Ohio; Central Ohio; Rhode Island; Champlain Region of Vermont and New York; and Puget Sound Area, Washington. Others are forming.

Want to start an OLOC chapter or group in your area? Contact bonnie@oloc.org if you are east of the Mississippi and ruth@oloc.org if you are west of the Mississippi. See the Steering Committee list on page 2 for phone numbers.

Pioneer Valley OLOC Spring and Summer Report

By Emily Greene, 1946

Spring has brought out the dykes in the Valley as we celebrated Pride Day and Stonewall 50 in both Northampton [NoHo] and Greenfield. The NoHo march is always spectacular, with thousands marching, and a showing of our OLOC group. Greenfield planned and had a wonderful 4th-year march and rally June 15 with over a thousand Lesbians participating and a great rally with our newly elected Lesbian State Senator, Jo Comerford, giving an inspiring speech.

July’s meeting was absolutely fun and a chance to get to know each other, as we each brought in several pictures from our early years and took turns telling a story or two about our early lives. We enjoyed it so much, we’ve decided to add that to our activities at our 4th Mini Michfest camping trip at Prospect Lake again on the New York border.

In August, we all gathered for a week of camping together to re-create Michigan [Womyn’s Music Festival] with morning sermons from Sister Carolyn Gage, sharing some meals together—like Wraye and Sheryl’s famous Nutloaf dinner—swimming, kayaking, and hiking together. This year, we shared more stories about our lives with more pictures.

Oh, and how can I forget our campfires! Last year, several women traveled to New York to join the New York OLOC group [Hudson Valley Chapter] for a picnic. Several women were looking forward to going to the National Gathering, and once again we are so grateful for the support from our National OLOC.

Long Beach Chapter Honors Former Coordinator

By Sharon Raphael, 1941

Pat Lamis, 1947 (on right in photo), received an award/trophy on July 27 for the four-and-a-half years she spent as the Long Beach, California, OLOC Chapter Coordinator. During that time, she brought in guest speakers, enlarged the membership, and continued OLOC’s participation in our very large Long Beach Gay Pride Parade, where we drive cars with OLOC signs and OLOC passengers waving at thousands of people who are waving back and shouting positive cheers along the route. Pat also represented OLOC at many events in the Los Angeles area, such as the Dyke Marches in Los Angeles and Long Beach. She is a well-known figure in movement and LGBT social circles in Southern California.

Pat also donated her own money when she became very ill before she was Coordinator to keep the coffers of our local treasury afloat. We used the donation to rent convertibles for the parade and in the future plan to support members traveling to National Gatherings.

Although she has stepped down as Chapter Coordinator, Pat plans to continue as an active member of OLOC. She will also continue her involvement with the Gray Panthers and Senior Services at the LGBTQ Center in Long Beach. Pat founded the famous Womynz Brunch Bunch newsletter, which was sent to 5,000 Lesbians, and Women on Wednesdays, and was involved early in the creation of Women Over Forty, a popular organization in Long Beach. She was also active in a group called LEZ Chat.

Long Beach OLOC still has as Secretary and contact person Sharon Raphael (smraphael@aol.com) and Treasurer Jenny Wrenn.

The Chapter is considering changing its name to the Greater LA Area OLOC and expanding meeting locations to include proper Los Angeles as well as Long Beach, which has always included Orange County.

Pioneer Valley Member honored by Massachusetts Commission on Status of Women

OLOC Pioneer Valley’s (Massachusetts) own Mary McClintock, 1957, was honored by the Massachusetts Commission on the Status of Women as an Unsung Heroine.

The purpose of the Commission is to advance women and girls toward full equity in all areas of life and to promote rights and opportunities for all women and girls. The Commission stands for fundamental freedoms, basic human rights, and the full enjoyment of life for all women and girls throughout their lives. Each June, Massachusetts celebrates female Commonwealth community leaders.

Freelance writer and progressive activist Mary McClintock joined Community Action Pioneer Valley as Community Collaboration Coordinator in 2017. Mary has always been a community builder. She helped start Greenfield’s Free Harvest Supper of Locally Grown Food and Greenfield’s Weekly Peace Vigil, wrote a Greenfield Recorder local food column for ten years, was interim director of the Franklin County Community Meals Program, and organizes events for local Lesbians. She chairs Conway’s Planning Board and helped start Conway’s Pre-Town Meeting Dessert Potluck and Discussion.

Mary’s work has affected thousands in her region. Recently she advocated for individuals experiencing homelessness in Greenfield, helping them find services and shelter, while working with homeless individuals, service providers, and civic leaders to identify steps to solve the challenge of homelessness. Mary believes deeply that we are all in this together, and she works daily to bring people together for the greater good of our communities.

Mary McClintock lives in Conway, Massachusetts, and was recommended by Natalie M. Blasi, Massachusetts State Representative.

Congratulations, Mary! What a well-deserved honor!

What’s Good about Living in a Retirement Home

By Diane Ste. Marie, 1939

I go out my door and always meet someone interesting. Even if it’s late at night and I’m taking a break, I am surprised to find just the right person I need to talk to.

My retirement home is convenient to classes at Pacific Northwest Ballet for adults and teens. I always wanted to be a ballerina, but my mom was raised fundamentalist, so dancing was verboten! It turns out that you can learn ballet at 79. I now have very strong core muscles and get to hang out with younger people. It’s fun.

There are some out Lesbians and gay men at my home. My space is nice, and I’ve taken a burden off my kids, who won’t have to close my house with everything in it when I die. I’m not dependent for care on my kids or friends. Even though the food is only so-so, I enjoy the dining room staff.

It’s not only saying I’m old, but there’s living with it. So it’s good I’m with a bunch of other folk experiencing the same thing. We are all facing the same challenges of health and physical and mental changes, which point toward needing more support in the future.

What the Tech-Savvy Old Dyke Needs to Know about Facebook. . .

. . .but was afraid to ask. Here are the do’s and don’ts:

You must have a Facebook page to access the Old Lesbians National Facebook page. There are other Old Lesbians pages, as different chapters have their own pages, so don’t be fooled. The National OLOC page looks like the photo.

1. Sign on to your Facebook page, and at the top where it has the little magnifying glass, type in Old Lesbians Organizing for Change. Do not type in OLOC.

2. Once on the page, you can read the posts and make comments, but you cannot post. Only the administrators can do that.

3. You can leave a recommendation and review (please be kind); just click on Reviews. If there is anything else you would like to know, you can email Retts and she will try to assist (rettsie@gmail.com).

To find OLOC on Facebook, go to www.facebook.com/NationalOLOC.
